

Publication Ethics in printed journal Mesto a dejiny [The City and History]

Principles of publishing in the journal Mesto a dejiny [The City and History] are applied in accordance with the code of ethics of publishing experience, which is defined and anchored by international forum Publication Ethics Committee (COPE):

<http://publicationethics.org/resources/guidelines>

<http://publicationethics.org/resources/code-conduct>

1. The authors are responsible for the correctness and accuracy of the data. This applies to professional status (Office address, author contact details), personal data as well as sources of financial support and information about the project of which the contribution was made.
2. Authors are responsible for the correct specification of all co-authors.
3. Plagiarism or use of untrusted sources is unacceptable and is in rough contrary to publishing ethics and good scientific practice.
4. At the creating of text, authors are obliged to respect the guidelines for authors, established by editorial staff, concerning the quality, intention and technical norms of paper.
5. The quality and extent of the contribution must meet the standards and level of scientific work in the respective category (scientific study, article, review, annotation, report, etc.).
6. Contents of the articles must be consistent with the intention, focus and epistemological mission of printed journal Mesto a dejiny [The City and History].
7. The authors agree that the submitted contribution is authentic and original work, has not been yet published in any form, or is not in the peer-review procedure in another magazine.
8. If the text has already been published prior to administration, the author is required to rework or complete it.
9. The revised or amended text has to include a link to the original paper, justification of changes and the expression of advance in knowledge.
10. During the review procedure the authors have to communicate and cooperate with the editorial staff and editorial board.
11. If authors find out any irregularities or serious misconduct in the paper, should inform the editorial board regardless the phase to the peer review process and correct mistakes.
12. Authors are required to edit their paper according to reviewers' opinions and send it to the editor until the deadline with the cover letter including the description of changes.
13. If authors do not agree with reservations of reviewers, their reasons have to be stated in the cover letter.