

SYMPOSIUM ON NEW ERA IN MEDICAL EDUCATION

ABOUT EVENT

- Want to hear, share and discuss topics that are changing the approach to education in medicine during and after the pandemic?
- Join us during NEWMED's symposium and see how the teachers moved to the online environment, what electronic tools are being used effectively, and how simulation technologies and virtual reality are helping to improve students' knowledge and skills.

TARGET GROUPS

- The symposium aims on academic staff for whom the rapid transition to online teaching during pandemic meant a great burden, academics who teach at medical schools and have little experience with modern technology and students who should benefit from modern teaching approaches.

AGENDA

- results of a detailed analysis of the transition to online teaching
- examples of good and bad practice
- recommendations for methodological support
- pilot implementation guides to support e-learning
- simulators and virtual tools in medicine
- methodological and technological background
- hands-on examples and discussions
